

Financial Modeling Analyst

Location: Pittsburgh or Remote w/preference in Central or Eastern USA

Job Type: Full Time

Reports To: Chief Financial Officer

About Vision RNG:

Vision RNG is a private equity owned renewable natural gas (RNG) infrastructure developer. The team is comprised of seasoned professionals with decades of experience across the natural gas and waste management industries. Combining proven landfill gas technologies with processes widely used in the conventional natural gas sector, Vision RNG provides unique and differentiated solutions to capture, process, and commercialize RNG.

Position:

To support our rapid growth, we are seeking a Financial Modeling Analyst to support our Finance and Development teams. This individual will directly report to the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) and partner with the leadership team on economic and technical feasibility studies / models to evaluate projects.

In addition to modeling efforts, this individual will be expected to work with key leadership members to assist on financial forecasting and strategic planning, and the creation of company presentations and analysis. The role will interact with disciplines across the company to gather information necessary to maintain accurate forecast assumptions and assist in financial analysis needed to evaluate the development pipeline.

Primary Responsibilities:

- Perform modeling and financial analysis related to the project economics, valuations, and strategic planning.
- Create concise and consumable summary information from analysis for executive leadership.
- Assist in the evaluation and preparation of materials for all project related activities from idea to execution.
- Maintain a rigorous process for the development and documentation of the economic models.
- Perform scenario analysis for a multitude of financing and operating scenarios.

Requirements:

- Bachelor's degree in economics, finance, mathematics, engineering or a similar quantitative field (qualified experience in lieu of education will be considered).
- Strong experience with financial modeling in an investment banking or similar environment. Preference towards experience in RNG, Natural Gas, or Oil & Gas markets specific to project development efforts.
- Must be very strong in Microsoft Excel and PowerPoint.
- Strong team player that thrives in a fast-paced environment. Must be a self-starter that can operate independently, comfortable working in a dynamic and evolving role.
- Demonstrated / Quantifiable success.
- High degree of emotional intelligence, strong communication skills, and an overarching interest in reducing the carbon footprint for future generations through use of creative and innovative strategies / projects.

Responsibilities:

Competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience to include Base Salary + Shorter Term (cash) bonus + Incentive Equity + benefit program.
